If you look at the HTML that they use to make the map. That's where the image links to, and they have the correct legend. In addition the Yahoo Web Browser does not use Javascript for it's interface. If you load the Yahoo page in your browser the only available method for hiding the map is to use the JQuery and hide the map using the following code. function _hide() { $("div.map").hide(); } function _show() { $("div.map").show(); } That is already built in for the browser, no need to do anything else. I'm not sure why the Nesterinteractiveatlasofhumananatomy30crack map was not included.

A: To answer your question: If the Column you are trying to sum is called TotalSales, I would go with SELECT SUM(TotalSales) FROM [file-name] I tried the following in my SQL Server Management Studio, and it gave me the SUM of the TotalSales column without any errors. SELECT SUM([TotalSales]) FROM [file-name] A: Ok, I think I found a solution. I'm going to try and add the total amount for all the records in the Excel file for the sale amount and the option amount and then just sum that amount at the end of it all. If anyone has any better way of doing this I would be highly interested in hearing it too. This is what I am trying to do: DECLARE @tittle CHAR(100) = '' DECLARE @osome CHAR(100) = '' DECLARE @item CHAR(100) = '' SELECT @tittle = ISNULL(@tittle, '') + CHAR(13) + CHAR(10) + CHAR(5) SELECT @osome = ISNULL(@osome, '') + CHAR(13) + CHAR(10) + CHAR(5) SELECT @item = ISNULL(@item, '') + CHAR(13) + CHAR(10) + CHAR(5) SELECT CASE WHEN (@ItemID = ''' + @Item + ''') THEN ''' + @Item + ''' ELSE '''' + '' + ''' + @Item + '''' END FROM ##insert my table here## SELECT CASE WHEN (@ItemID = ''' + @Item + ''') THEN @TotalAmount ELSE '''' + '' + ''' + @TotalAmount + '''' END A: I think the solution to this question is found on SQL-Fiddle: This sums the TotalSales and OptionAmount column together. SELECT SUM(TotalSales + OptionAmount) FROM [file-name] Está preso em prisão domiciliar.
